DETAILED ACTION

In view of the Appeal Brief filed on July 24, 2009, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. New grounds of rejection are set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

/Terry A. McKelvey/

Supervisory Patent Examiner, Art Unit 1655

For the purpose of expeditious prosecution, the amendment filed on July 24, 2009 in the appeal brief after final has been entered. Acknowledgment is made of the cancellation of Claims 2-10, 12-29 and 31-35.

Claims 1, 11, 30 and 38 are under examination.

Claim Objections

Claim 30 is objected to because of the following informalities: There is an apparent omission of an ampersand in line 4 of Claim 30. Applicant may overcome the objection by adding and, before "wherein", in line 4 of Claim 30.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 11, 30 and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kapundu et al. (Kapundu et al. Phytochemistry (1980); 19(4): 615-622. New triterpenoids from Napoleonaea imperialis.). Newly applied.

Applicant claims a biologically active extract comprising a fractionated extract from Napoleonaea imperialis, wherein said extract is obtained using an organic solvent; and wherein said biologically active is saponin-enriched and exhibits anti-leishmanial activity. Applicant further claims a biologically active extract according to claim 1, wherein said solvent is methanol, wherein said extract is obtained directed from solvent extraction of powdered seeds of said plant utilizing said solvent. Applicant further claims a biologically active extract according to claim 11, wherein said solvent is methanol.

Art Unit: 1655

Kapundu teaches a methanol extract from powdered seeds of Napoleonaea imperialis, on page 615, Column 2, lines 11-12. Kapundu also teaches that the methanolic powdered seed extract of the claim-designated plant comprises saponin. For instance, on page 615, last line bridging page 616, line 1, Kapundu teaches extracting the seeds of Napoleonaea imperialis with methanol and adding water to the methanolic extract to precipitate a saponin, which is separated by filtration. Applicant may argue that Kapundu does not teach that the prior art methanolic plant extract as a biologically active extract which exhibits therapeutic anti-leishmanial activity. However, the claim-designated functional effect is considered inherent to the extract taught by Kapundu because the source of the plant, the particular plant material from the source plant, and the solvent used in the making of the plant extract taught by Kapundu are one and the same as disclosed by Applicant. Therefore, a biologically active saponin-enriched extract comprising a fractionated methanol extract from powdered seeds of Napoleonaea imperialis, which exhibits therapeutic anti-leishmanial activity is deemed inherent to the Kapundu' extract. Thus, the Office would not be persuaded by Applicant's argument.

The reference anticipates the claimed subject matter.
